Robustness of clustering results increases for larger sample sizes and converges towards 0

